THE DIRECTORS

"At DTL, our mission is not just about executing projects; it's about forging lasting partnerships rooted in trust, integrity, and mutual respect. As someone who carries the legacy of four generations in water management, I am not new to this industry—far from it. My family's deep connection to water management in Australia stretches back to the early 1900s when my great-grandfather was constructing wells whilst walking stock through Northern Australia. His tenacity in the face of tough conditions still guides my approach today.

Add to this over two decades of experience working in the mining industry where I've had the privilege to work with some of the most respected names in the field- I've learnt from the best. This has given me the knowledge and expertise to guide your project to success. I'm not just another face in the industry—I'm someone who knows how to bring people together to achieve great results. Together, we are shaping the future of our industry, one project at a time."

--Tyson Knight (FOUNDER)

"What sets DTL apart is our unwavering focus on understanding clients, we take the time to listen, to learn, and to innovate, crafting individual solutions that address their unique needs and challenges. Our success is measured not just by the completion of projects but by the satisfaction and success of our clients

I believe in leading by example, which is why I am personally involved in every aspect of our operations, ensuring that our commitment to excellence shines through in everything we do. From the initial consultation to the final delivery, I am dedicated to ensuring that our clients receive nothing short of the best."
